Notes from Mr. G

6th Grade

Can't believe we are facing the last week of school before the Christmas break. Tuesday we are planning on having a "board game day" in our room when students can bring their favorite (NCA appropriate) board game to school to play for the morning. . . . we went to the Timberland Library this week with our 2nd grade reading buddies and our kids did a wonderful job helping their buddies find books.

Next week we also have special activities taking place including two days (Monday and Thursday) of "Fabulous Friday". Students in grades 3-6 are working on a Christmas project, making a different part of the project in each room. . . . the annual Christmas concert is on Thursday night at 6:30 p.m. in the NCA Gym. Students are asked to be there by 6:15 p.m. Attendance for students is mandatory. . . . we will have a few treats next Friday in class to celebrate the Christmas holiday.

We have our class theme for our annual auction (March 2). It will be "Baker's Dream". Your contribution will have something to do with baking, cooking, the kitchen, etc. There is a blue flyer in today's folder with details.

In Science, Group B is now studying the inner and outer planets of the solar system. There will not be a test until after the holiday break there will be a Vocabulary Test on Tues. 12/11 over Lesson 6 There will also be a spelling and memory test on Friday, 12/14.

For Christmas this year the kids and I have been discussing if we want to have a small class project to assist our classroom or others. We are asking that rather than by gifts for each other, that each family contribute one or more AR books to the classroom as we build our library. Please wrap the book and send it with your child prior to 12/14.

Merry Christmas! Have a blessed week! . . . Mr. G
