Here's to a more "normal" week ahead! Thanks for your flexibility these past few crazy weeks that have book-ended the holidays. We have just a few weeks left of the first semester. Please encourage your child to remain focused and engaged.

We will be starting a unit in Social Studies about the Civil Rights Movement. This is a topic that is typically very interesting to students. We will be studying specific people, as well as the concepts of segregation and integration. Please be willing to listen to your child if they have questions or concerns. Let me know also if I can help to clarify.

Have a wonderful weekend!
